Dresden

Season
2025/26

Semperoper Dresden

Dresden's Altstadt (Old Town) is home to cultural heritage of international renown. For centuries, the Semperoper, one of the world's most famous opera houses, has combined tradition with innovation. After its destruction in 1945, the building reopened exactly 40 years later, on 13 February 1985.

This is also the home of the Staatskapelle Dresden, one of the oldest orchestras in the world. Founded in 1548, it is steeped in tradition and has been shaped by illustrious conductors such as Heinrich Schütz, Carl Maria von Weber and Richard Wagner, who called the ensemble his "miraculous harp".

Operatic history has been written at the Semperoper: Richard Wagner premiered Rienzi, The Flying Dutchman and Tannhäuser here. There is also an imperishable link to Richard Strauss, nine of whose 15 operas were premiered at the Semperoper, including Salome, Der Rosenkavalier and Elektra.

Nora Schmid has been the Intendant of Saxon State Opera since the 2024/25 season.

Daniele Gatti is Principal Conductor of the Staatskapelle Dresden and Kinsun Chan heads Semperoper Ballett. Together they are developing an artistic profile of this world-famous opera house that celebrates the unique mix of opera, ballet and concerts offered at this landmark building.

The Staatskapelle Dresden

One of the world's oldest orchestras, the Staatskapelle Dresden is truly steeped in tradition. Founded in 1548 by Moritz, Elector of Saxony, its history is inextricably linked with the city of Dresden, the royal Saxon court and its theatre. Until today, the venerable ensemble performs some 250 opera and ballets each season at its home in the Semperoper. In addition, it presents around 50 symphonic concerts, matinee events and chamber music evenings.

As a top symphony orchestra, the Staatskapelle appears at major international music venues several times each season. From 2013 to 2022, the ensemble was resident orchestra at the Salzburg Easter Festival. For this successful decade of work at the Salzach River, it was awarded the Herbert von Karajan Prize. In 2007, the Staatskapelle was the first – and until today the only – orchestra to receive the “European Cultural Foundation Prize for the Preservation of the World's Musical Heritage”.

Since its foundation, many great conductors and renowned musical partners have shaped the history of this one-time court band. Its roster of former conductors includes Heinrich Schütz, Johann Adolf Hasse, Carl Maria von Weber and Richard Wagner, who called the orchestra his “miraculous harp”. Richard Strauss was closely linked to the ensemble for more than sixty years. Nine of his operas were premiered in Dresden, including Salome, Elektra and Der Rosenkavalier, and his Alpine Symphony is dedicated to the Staatskapelle.

The Staatskapelle is highly active in the local region. It cooperates with the community music project “Musaik” in the Dresden district of Prohlis and in 2010 helped found the International Shostakovich Festival in Gohrisch, the world's first annual event dedicated to the music of Dmitri Shostakovich. The Staatskapelle also regularly reaches out to younger audiences in Dresden's Neustadt district with its project “Ohne Frack auf Tour” (On Tour without Tails).

Daniele Gatti

Principal Conductor of the Staatskapelle Dresden

Daniele Gatti has been Principal Conductor of the Staatskapelle Dresden since the 2024/2025 season. After studying in Milan, Gatti took up positions at the Accademia Nazionale di Santa Cecilia, London's Royal Opera House, the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and the Teatro Comunale di Bologna. He was subsequently Principal Conductor of the Orchestre National de France, at the Zurich Opera House and of the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra in Amsterdam, as well as Music Director of the Teatro dell'Opera di Roma. In addition to his post in Dresden, Daniele Gatti is also Chief Conductor of the Teatro del Maggio Musicale Fiorentino, Music Director of the Orchestra Mozart and, since 2016, Artistic Advisor to the Mahler Chamber Orchestra.

He has conducted major new productions such as Parsifal, which opened the Bayreuth Festival in 2008, and four operas at the Salzburg Festival. He has also launched several seasons of the Teatro dell'Opera di Roma with works such as La damnation de Faust, Rigoletto and the world premiere of Battistelli's Julius Caesar. In 2023, he conducted Falstaff and all of Tchaikovsky's symphonies at the Maggio Musicale Fiorentino festival. In summer 2025, he will return to Bayreuth to conduct Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg.

Daniele Gatti is a three-time winner of the "Franco Abbiati" Prize as Best Conductor. In 2016 he was named Chevalier de la Légion d'Honneur by the French Republic for his work as Music Director of the Orchestre National de France. He also holds the Order of Merit of the Italian Republic.

For Sony Classical, he has recorded works by Debussy and Stravinsky; as part of the "RCO Live" series he has conducted recordings of Berlioz's Symphonie fantastique, several Mahler symphonies, a DVD of Stravinsky's Le sacre du printemps, Mahler symphonies and a DVD of Strauss's Salome. A DVD of Wagner's Tristan und Isolde was released in 2019. In his first season as Principal Conductor of the Staatskapelle Dresden, he spotlighted the music of Gustav Mahler and Robert Schumann. In the 2025/26 season, Daniele Gatti will conduct two operas at the Semperoper: Falstaff by Giuseppe Verdi and Parsifal by Richard Wagner. He will also continue the Gustav Mahler cycle with symphonies nos. 5, 6 and 7.
